

Harnessing farmer-led adaptation for sustainable livestock systems

Published 10 Nov 2022

Climate change is affecting food producers in developing countries. CGIAR is at the forefront of harnessing farmer-led adaptation for sustainable livestock systems to help transform global food systems.

Resource type

Video