Harnessing farmer-led adaptation for sustainable livestoc systems

Published 11 Nov 2022

Climate change is affecting food producers in developing countries. CGIAR is at the forefront of harnessing farmer-led adaptation for sustainable livestock systems to help transform global food systems.